Cyclops

This pair of friendly little aliens tower the skies at 2.4 metres. Incorporating wireless DECT technology and solar power, the Cyclops brings sight and sound adventures in outdoor play into the 21st Century.

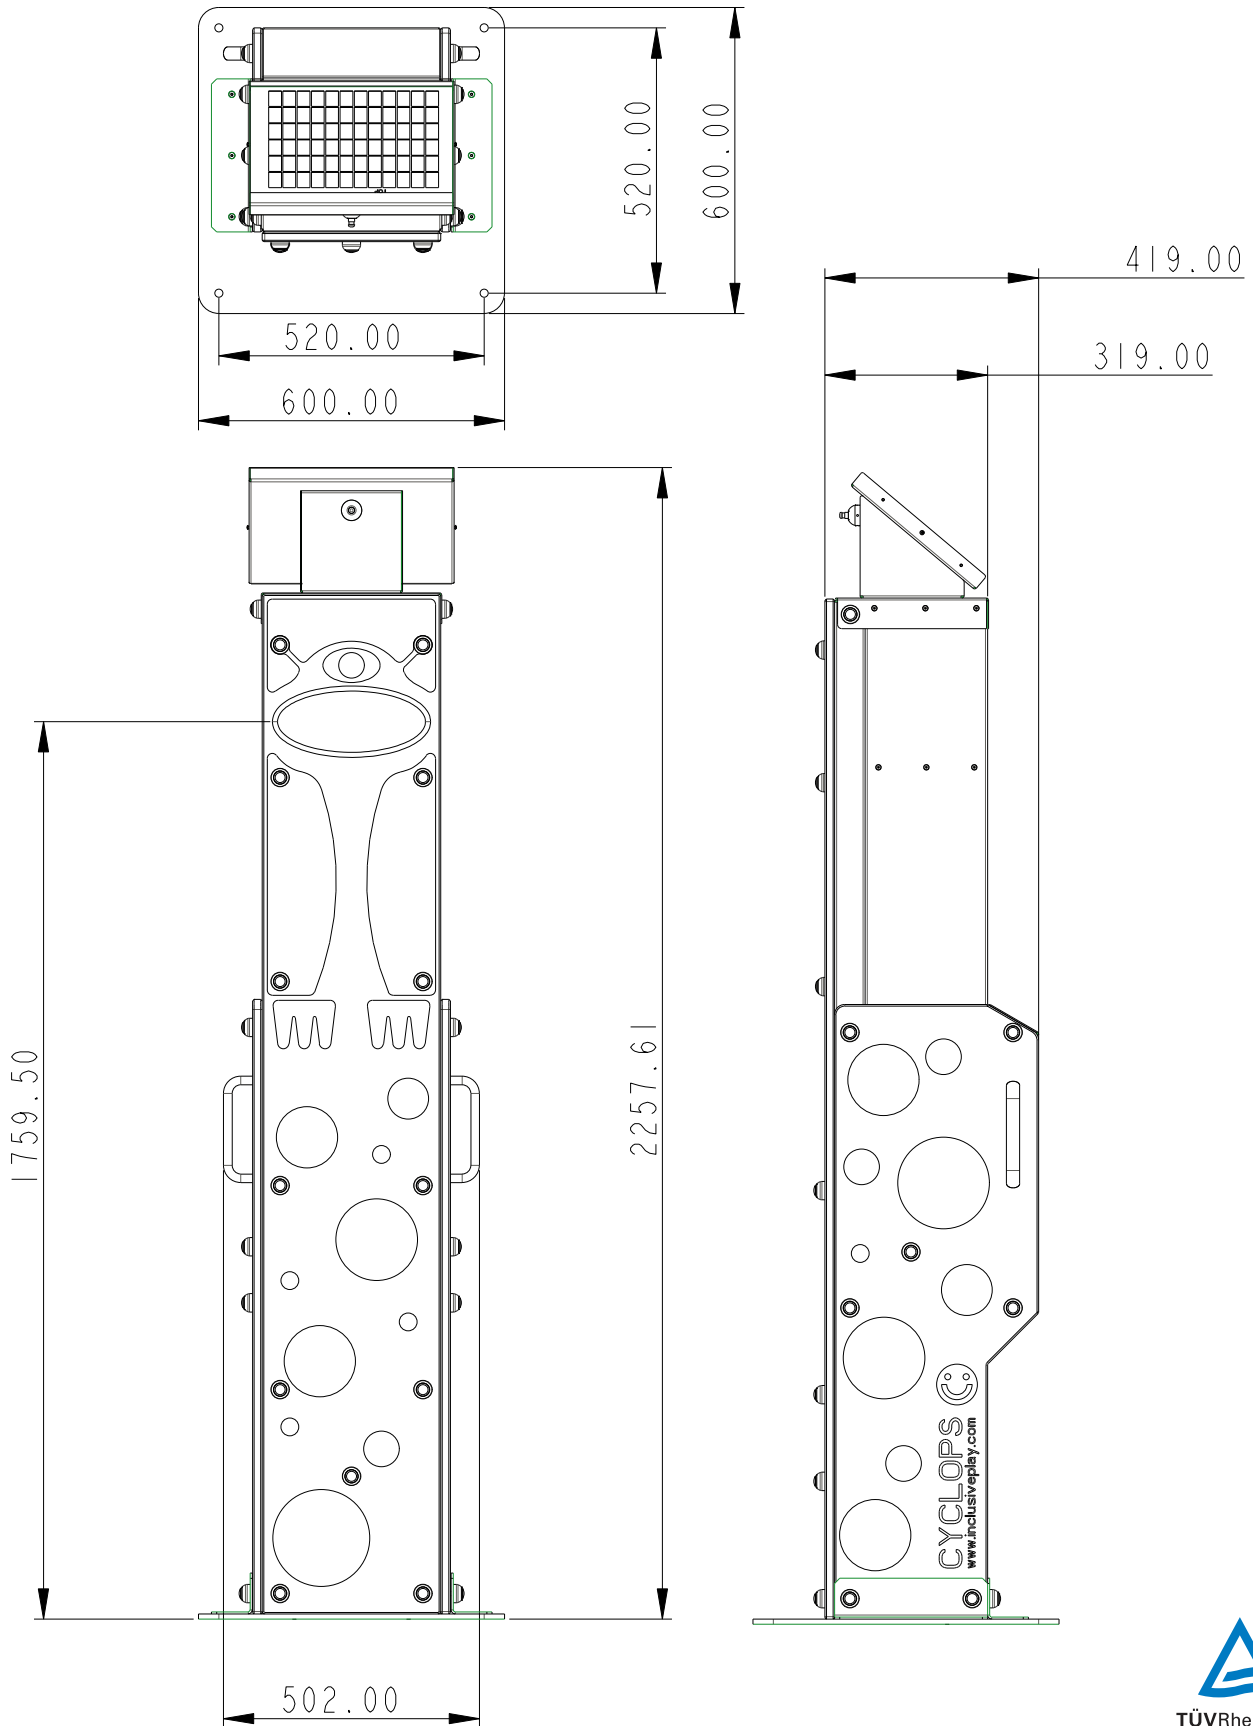

Cyclops utilises modern technology to enable children to look round the park and hopefully find and talk to their Cyclops friend. An LCD screen is set into the structure and children can move the simple push-button controls to adjust their view. The screen is housed at an optimum height for wheelchair users, with a recessed footwell allowing them to get close to the action. An induction loop is also incorporated for the hard of hearing.

Children can then talk, again using simple “walkie-talkie” controls, to the other Cyclops, wherever it may be! With no underground cabling or wiring, the possibilities are almost limitless for placing within a play space. The opportunities for social interaction and inclusion are even more thrilling.
